

BRITISH GENERAL ELECTION COMING

Prospect is That It Will be Called for October Next.

BRITAIN IN THE TRANSVAAL

Occupies Strips of Land Along the Railway—Carnegie's Affairs—Stranded Americans.

London, Sept. 8.—Special London cable letter, copyright, 1900, the Associated Press.—The week has been prolific of discussion, but, though the main questions of international and national interest appear to be settling, which remains the strongest factor of international politics and appears to be approaching a solution, they have not yet reached the point of finality which Great Britain so earnestly desires in order that she may attend to her private concerns.

Among the latter stand out most prominently the South African question and the general election. By help of the desire for peace dominating a nation, Great Britain has been enabled to achieve without hindrance the formal annexation of the South African republics, which, as a cabinet minister declared last year, would be an "unmistakable misfortune."

BRITAIN'S HOLD IN THE TRANSVAAL

Lord Roberts' proclamation, however, has not advanced matters much. The issue of the Transvaal is tantamount to the end of the South African war, but the view of the question differs, and, as a matter of fact, there are no masters of the country anywhere except in the case of strips of land along the railroads.

However, in spite of the disconcerting persistence of the burghers, the British government, apparently, has determined to carry out the scheme for an early appeal to the country. Everything appears to be shaping for an October election, and the return to England of Lord Salisbury during the coming week will probably be followed by a definite pronouncement of the date of the dissolution as well as British views on far Eastern matters.

LIBERALS RETURNING.

Among the interesting features of the election news is the movement on the part of the liberal unionists to return to the liberal fold, and to be again what Sir Vernon Harcourt described himself to be in his speech of September 1, "liberal without any adjectives."

Mr. Anthony Hope (Hawkins), the novelist, is again a candidate for a seat in parliament. He has been adopted as the liberal champion for Falkirkburgh.

CARNEGIE'S AFFAIRS.

Special dispatches from New York have furnished the reading public here with more or less circumstantial details of the acute crisis in the affairs of the Carnegie company and its re-organization, etc. But Mr. Andrew Carnegie characterizes the reports as devoid of foundation in fact. In a telegram to the Associated Press he says:

"We are a harmonious, happy family. No changes are desired or contemplated."

Mr. Charles A. Smith of New York, who is returning to the United States this week after an extensive tour of Europe, has just completed a fortnight's visit to Skibo Castle, the Scotch estate of Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Smith said:

"Mr. Carnegie is going to have one of the finest castles in Scotland when the repairs are complete. He had 200 men employed on the castle and grounds all summer, doing wonders in transforming the estate. I played golf nearly every day with Mr. Carnegie, and know that the stories of dissensions in the Carnegie company are utterly unfounded. We knew President Schwab was in Eu-

SYSTEMATIC CATARRH.

Thousands Suffer From It and Do Not Know It.

Hon. A. T. Wimberly, Collector of the Port of New Orleans, La., and member of the National Republican Committee, in writing of Pe-ru-na, says:

Hon. A. T. Wimberly, "Pe-ru-na Drug Mfg Co., Columbus, O."

"Gentlemen—I have used Pe-ru-na and can gladly recommend it as being all you represent. I wish that every man who is in need of a good tonic could know of it. I would advise all such to take it now, and am sure it would never be regretted."

A. T. Wimberly.

Pe-ru-na is an internal remedy—a scientific remedy for catarrh. It cures catarrh wherever located. Its cures last. Pe-ru-na gives strength by stopping waste. By saving the mucus it enriches the blood. By cleansing the rope, but he was not at Skibo Castle. "I am low, but Mr. Carnegie is hopeful concerning the future commercial outlook in the United States. He is going to the United States in October."

POOR AMERICANS IN LONDON.

"I never knew so many impoverished Americans in London," said United States Vice Consul Westcott to a representative of the Associated Press. "At this time of the year you are sure to find many who have overtaxed their financial resources. But the applications for relief here outnumber any other country. Of course, there are no means in our hands to finance stranded travelers, and if there were they would long since have been expended. Guests at the leading hotels say they cannot go into the streets without being besieged for financial aid by impoverished emigrants."

The visiting members of the Kansas City fire brigade are entertaining crowds at the Crystal Palace. The smartness of the American firemen has called forth unstinted praise from the London newspapers.

EXTOLS AMERICAN METHODS.

The report of the British commercial agent at Chicago, printed conspicuously in the London Times, attracts attention as being further evidence of the skill and progress of American mechanics. The report extols American methods, the use of labor-saving machinery and the rapidity and excellence of their product.

LONDON THEATRICALS.

The Kendalls, who have been busily rehearsing a play by Mrs. W. K. Clifford, entitled "Unwisely, but Too Well," have been chagrined over the discovery that Sydney Grundy's play, "A Debt of Honor," produced by George Alexander on Thursday at the St. James theater, is almost a replica of the work they had in hand. Mrs. Clifford's play was printed in the March issue of Lady Randolph Churchills' "Anglo-Saxon Review," under the title "Likeness of the Night," and was twice read and rejected by Alexander. As a result, a heated newspaper controversy is in progress. Grundy partly declares he never knew Alexander ever read Mrs. Clifford's play and that Alexander had no idea what he (Grundy) was writing till the play was completed. Grundy added:

"I did not know until now that Mrs. Clifford's play was published in the mucus membranes it preserves the vital forces.

A constant drain of mucus from the system is known as systematic catarrh. This may occur from any organ of the body. Systematic catarrh is more common in spring and summer than in the winter.

Dr. Rachel A. Magraw, 67 West Jefferson Street, Springfield, Ohio: "Your Pe-ru-na is worth its weight in gold. I feel like a new woman. I can't praise it enough. I spent a great deal of money on doctors, but nothing ever did me any good until I sent to you and tried your Pe-ru-na. I now feel well of the catarrh."

Ralph W. Chulip, of La Porte, Ind., says the following as regards Pe-ru-na for catarrh: "I had been troubled with catarrh for the past eight years. I became so bad a year and a half ago that I took treatment from two different specialists on catarrh. The discharge from my head was dreadful. Finally my stomach became affected, and eight months ago I had to quit work. I lost in weight from 165 pounds to 140. I was completely discouraged. I procured a bottle of Pe-ru-na and had not taken half the surprise, I began feeling better. My head began to get better; the discharge began to dry up. I kept on, and have now taken two bottles. I have resumed my work, have a good appetite, and have not felt better in ten years. I am now 30, and I thank Pe-ru-na for the way I feel today."

Anglo-Saxon Review, nor have I met anybody who did."

The Kendalls, who have been making elaborate preparations for presenting the new piece, regard the matter as a great misfortune, but they declare they will proceed without changing the play though they were at first inclined to do so.

Gen. Dewet's Movements.

Pretoria, Sept. 8.—It is stated that Gen. Dewet has joined Theron in the neighborhood of Johannesburg, and that the total Boer force there numbers 1,500. The enemy is holding a position in the high hills south of the town. A considerable force is now in pursuit. The Boers have no artillery.

National Bank in Porto Rico.

New York, Sept. 8.—It is probable that the project for establishing the first national bank under United States laws in the West Indies will be abandoned, for the present at least. The colonial bank of San Juan, Porto Rico, is the one in question. It was opened in April, 1899, and has an authorized capital of $1,000,000, of which $400,000 has been subscribed. It has eleven directors, including the president, William Schall Jr., and the cashier, E. L. Arnold, who has actual charge of the bank in San Juan. Last April Mr. Schall applied to Controller Davies for permission to make the colonial bank a national institution, and this week he received notice that the application had been granted.

Since his asking for permission, however, Congress passed a law, giving to the secretary of the treasury power, at his discretion, to name banks other than national banks, as depositories, and by this law one of the chief reasons of directors for making their application has been removed. The colonial bank of San Juan, in fact, is a U. S. depository now, and the only advantage it could receive by becoming a national bank would be the right to issue circulation.

The directors here decided to send the news of the granting of the application to the directors in Porto Rico and await an expression of their views.

WYOMING FLOATS AT HIGH TIDE.

Monitor Successfully Launched at San Francisco.

SHE IS A POWERFUL VESSEL.

Completion and Armament of the New Coast Defender to be Crowded With Haste.

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—The United States Monitor Wyoming was successfully launched at high tide this morning from the shipyard of the Union Iron Works. Thousands of people lined along the shore or crowded on excursion steamers and other craft, shouted themselves hoarse as the low hull of the new war vessel plunged into the bay. The event had been made a feature of the semi-centennial celebration of California's admission into the Union, and among the multitude of spectators, hundreds were the conspicuous heads of the native sons of the Golden West.

The launching was managed by Superintendent Dickie of the Union Iron Works, and everything worked without a hitch. Only persons with passes were allowed to enter the gates, but every foot of space around the huge cradle in which the Wyoming rested, was occupied.

The monitor's hull was supported by shores over the sliding ways. Early this morning workmen began ramming in wedges, so as to create an incline of one foot to sixteen feet. Later on most of the blocks sustaining the ship were knocked away, and by 10 o'clock everything was in readiness for the launching. About the bows of the vessel a platform had been built for the guests of honor, including Governor Richards of Wyoming, Adj. Gen. Frank Stiles, Col. A. H. Hansen and wife, Major Thomas Wilhelm, Captain P. Covert and Capt. Patrick Sullivan, constituting his staff, and Miss Hattie Warren. To Miss Warren, who is the daughter of United States Senator Warren, was assigned the duty of christening the latest addition of the American navy. This she did in regulation style, breaking the usual bottle of wine and exclaiming, "I name thee Wyoming," as the last supporting props were removed, and the monitor started from the ways and slid slowly into the sea. When the vessel's stern touched the water, the spectators sent up a mighty cheer, which, however, was soon drowned in the din made by scores of steam whistles.

The Wyoming is yet without her heavy armor, and in fact little more than her hull is finished. The turret, where the monitor's big guns will revolve, is at present nothing more than a big hole near the center of the deck. Back of this is the bare-looking superstructure of what will be when finished, the quarters of the officers and crew. Through the center of this protrudes the smokestack, also in dingy red, like everything else from the armor shell up. Work on the vessel is to be pushed forward, and she will be ready for service at no very distant date.

The coast defense monitor Wyoming is one of four similar vessels designed by Chief Naval Constructor Nicholson with a view of securing the greatest results with the least expenditure of money. Her sister ships will be named the Arkansas, Connecticut and Florida. The Wyoming was built by the Union Iron Works, the contract price being $74,000. Her dimensions are: Length on water line, 225 feet; extreme breadth, 50 feet; mean draft, 12 feet, 6 inches; displacement about 2,700 tons. The hull is of steel not sheathed, with double bottom and water tight subdivisions. The hull is protected by a side armor belt ranging from eleven to five inches in thickness. The turret is of the balanced type, its armor being nine inches thick. A conning tower with 7½ inches armor and a single military mast will also appear above the deck. The vessel is made twelve knots an hour. Her main battery will consist of two 12-inch breechloading rifles and four 4-inch rapid-fire rifles. In the secondary battery will be three 6-inch rapid-fire guns and four 1-pounder automatic rifles.

Prof. Hincley Dead.

New York, Sept. 8.—Francis Edward Hincley, one of the incorporators of the Chicago University, and prominently identified with many important railroad and commercial enterprises, is dead at his home at West New Brighton, Staten Island. He was born at Elmira, N. Y., in 1834, and came from an old New England family, one of his ancestors having been Thomas Hincley, an early colonial governor.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The Fall Term Opens Sept. 18, With Prospect of a Large Attendance.

The fall term opens September 18. There is prospect of a good attendance. The board of trustees met at the college Thursday and transacted considerable business. All were present except Mr. McCormick.

Miss Bowen, for five years teacher of sewing was released from her appointment, and her sister, Mrs. Elmo Cook appointed in her place. Mrs. Cook is well qualified for the position. Besides her education in the normal schools, she has studied one year each in the Cook county Normal school and the Potsdam Normal school. She has had several years' experience in teaching in the public schools of Utah, and Idaho, and besides her work as expert practical dressmaker, has been very successful with classes in sewing and allied work.

Miss Rena Baker, for some time teacher of elocution and physical culture in the Brigham Young college, was appointed teacher of reading in the preparatory department. The lady brings considerable experience to her work here.

Mr. E. P. Palley, a senior in the mechanical engineering course was employed to assist the teacher of drawing.

Arrangements were made to secure an instructor in the chemistry department, and an additional instructor in drawing, the latter to assist also in some other department.

Mr. Hill, of the University of California, who succeeds Mr. Hugh in the department of English, is already on the ground, and making a very favorable impression. He is a graduate of the department of arts and letters of the University at Berkeley, his specialties being English and German. He has taught enough Latin with such a degree of success as to warrant the expectation of excellent work in his classes. He brings the highest credentials from the university faculty and his employers.

The board of trustees made the following appropriations: $200 for additional machinery for mechanical engineering; $150 for plane table for civil engineering; $250 for chemical apparatus and supplies; $50 for biological

Catarrh AND Chronic Diseases Cured

FOR THE ACTUAL

Cost of the Medicines Used!

TO DEMONSTRATE ONCE AND FOR ALL THAT THERE IS A "PERMANENT" CURE FOR CHRONIC DISEASE.

All last week Drs. Shores gave to all who applied, "One Week's Treatment and Medicines Absolutely Free" as an honest test of their skill and methods, and hundreds took advantage of Drs. Shores' generous offer to see for themselves if "The Drs. Shores' Treatment" was all that was claimed for it—and the universal verdict was that "You can say what you please but I received more benefit from the free test treatment than from any other treatment I have ever tried before."

The above expression of approval from the hearts of a grateful public, that have tried "This Treatment" and "That Treatment" without any benefit—causes Drs. Shores to feel that they are amply repaid for all their medicines furnished free and their time and treatment during the "Free Test Week."

Not Temporary Relief, But Permanent Cures.

Drs. Shores not only claim that their new treatment gives quicker relief than any other treatment, but DR. Councilman O'Meara Makes an Offer of a Higher Bid.

Ex-Councilman W. P. O'Meara, representing Shepard & Co. of New York, says he has not been treated fairly in the matter of the sale of the $250,000 municipal bonds. Mr. O'Meara, after the contract with Rollins & Sons had been made, offered $400 over the proposal of the successful bidder. The other bidders, he says, were allowed to amend their bids after opening, and he wants to be accorded the same privilege. Mr. O'Meara's original bid was $1,570, and after wiring his house, he was authorized to raise it $400. Rollins & Sons' bid was $2,166, and the Mayor and finance committee closed the contract, subject to the Council's approval.

COUNTY TEACHERS.

Institute Met Yesterday Afternoon and Elected Officers.

The Salt Lake County Teachers' institute met yesterday afternoon in the University building to elect officers for the ensuing year and to transact such business as should come up at the meeting.

The election of officers was productive of the following roster: President, B. W. Ashton; vice president, Warren H. Lyon; secretary and treasurer, Florence Horne; librarian, Adelaide Spencer; program committee, R. W. Ashton, Mrs. Alice Tomlinson, W. H. Lyon, Miss Georgiana Webster.

A committee, consisting of County Superintendent Ashton, W. H. Lyon, G. M. Mumford, O. T. McCormick and Mrs. Alice Tomlinson, was appointed to suggest a series of text books in the study of nature to be used by the teachers and from which they would take their examinations.

It was decided that the Christmas vacation should extend from the Friday immediately prior to Christmas until the Wednesday following New Year's day.

The general expression of those present was to the effect that Friday of the State fair week should be set apart as school day at the fair.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Great Favorite.

The soothing and healing properties of this remedy, its pleasant taste and prompt and permanent cures have made it a great favorite with people everywhere. It is especially prized by mothers of small children for colds, croup and whooping cough, as it contains no opium or other harmful drug. It may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult.

MERCHANTS' PRINTING.
